Condition 4: Health-Related Claims

The label cannot state or imply that the product can or will control or reduce organisms that pose a threat to human health, or insects or rodents carrying specific diseases.

Claims Linking Pest to Specific Diseases

Minimum risk pesticide labels may not bear claims to control rodent, insect or microbial pests in a way that links the pests with any specific disease. The label claim may only be for the pest, as a pest, and not as a disease vector. For example:

- The label may not say:
  - "controls ticks that carry Lyme disease;" or
  - "controls mosquitoes that can transmit malaria, encephalitis, West Nile virus or the Zika virus."
- But can say:
  - "controls ticks;" or
  - "controls mosquitoes."
